WINDING UP THE CAMPAIGN. -Of course the late sweeping and unexpected victory of the Republicans was too big a thing to be permitted to go uncommemorated. A safe-ty-valve to let off the superfluous enthusiasm was required, and found. In the lan-guage of the Herald, it took the shape of a "jollification." We do not know the pre-cise number of Republican houses and places of business in town, but, be it big or little on Saturday evening each of them was il-luminated by myriads of candles, 'amps, Chinese lanterns, etc., presenting at once a magnificent appearance and rendering one of the darkest nights of the season light as day. The candles, as a matter of course, were composed of some manner of grease, and as is customary with candles they melted and the grease ran down the window-frames and on to the carpets. As a consequence, many of the Republican housewives, did not go to church next day, it being Sunday, but remained at home cleaning away the wreck and perfecting in their minds a determination to participate in no more illuminations. At about the honr of 7 o'clock, the Garfield and Arthur club took up its line of march from headquarters for a four round town.— The club, at its maximum, numbers about 250 members, but owing to the fact that the streets were knee-deep with mind, probably not more than 100 could be coaxed into line. Comparatively small though the body was, it marched well, and the members, in their vating as the bespangled performers in a circus ring. They looked this way for only a very limited space of time, however, for before they had necomplished a quarter of the companied by a violent sale of wind, strong enough to purify almost anything but the President-elect, one would think, swooped down on them, and, first wetting them thro' and through, necessitated a lasty breaking of ranks. Though the line was subsequently reformed and the route as originally fixed traversed, yet it is not hard to imagine that the task was accomplished as a matter of business and not through any passionate onging for any more of that sort of fun. It was a misfortune, especially regretted by those who participated, for the pageant was, as a delegate from Cambria township re-marked, "worth any man's dollar to see."-Plage floated to the breeze at various points, fireworks fizzed and spluttered whenever the rain would permit, and fully one-half the population yelled themselves hoarse. In the

AN ABANDONED CHILD BECLAIMED .-We have heretofore made mention of the finding of an unknown infant on the steps of a private residence in Johnstown and the y almshouse for temporary safe-keeping. Chough strenuous efforts were instituted to discover the heartless mother, they met with no success till Monday of the present week, when a woman giving her name as Mary Ellen Brown and Tyrone as her place of resi-dence voluntarily unde her appearance and claimed the child. The story she gave in connection with the affair is about this; As sum of $3 a week for its maintenance. Some time afterward, upon visiting Altoona to see her little one, she was herrified to learn that Mrs. With had gone away, taking with her the infant. Just how she succeeded in dissum of $3 a week for its maintenance. Some but upon coming into pessession of a history of its harsh experience, she hastened to re-claim it and take it to a mother's bosom. Steward Lilly was away from home on Mon-day, but returned in time to send a telegram Tuesday to Director Easly, at Johnstown, asking what action should be taken in the matter. He was directed to deliver the child to Mary Ellen, and both took the ears the Such is the yarn as woven by the woman, and it is only reflecting public opinion to say that those who take stock in its trathfulness are exceeding few. On the contrary, the prevailing belief is that Mary Ellen, who is a genteel looking little body of about 30 years, has been deliberately put forward to shield the really guilty mother and save her name from reproach. A woman who sails under of Altoena, was also charged with the mater-nity of the infant and a warrant issued for her accest for desertion, but the charge will now of course be dropped. Mary Ellen stated that the name of the father of the child is smith, and that he lives in Altoona, where of course as elsewhere the Smiths are almost Carnollitown, Nov. 8, 1880.

Mr. Editor—The Democrats of this place want from you, if you can furnish it, some explanation of the vote in Jackson township, as published in the official roturns in last week's Furnway. Hancock's vote is 51, and substantially the same vote is put down for all the other Democratic candidates except Coffroth, Baumer, and Langbein, the two former being credited with only 27 each, and the latter with the large number of 112 votes. Campbell has 166, or 23 more than Garneld; Boggs has 167, or 24 more than Garneld; and Gates has $2, or 61 less than Garfield. How did it happen that 24 Democrats in that township, who voted for Hancock, refused to vote for Coffroth and Baumer, but voted for Campbell and Boggs, and how oh! how did it come to pass that Tom Pavis, of your town, but formerly of Jackson, who is supposed by many persons to carry the Republican vote of that district in his precedes pocket, permitted his friend Gates to be so largely traded off for Languein. Can you tell why this is thus?

Ha scock.

We were told last Saturday by one who knows, we think, whereof he affirms, that a few days before the election an arrangement was entered into between a prominent Re-publican of this place, who had no hopes of Boggs, on the one part, and an equally prominent Democrat, also of this place, who was particularly anxious for Langbein's safe deliverance, on the other part, by which it was agreed between the contracting parties that just what the returns from Jackson township as referred to by our correspondent, show, should actually take place it it was in the wood. The goods were delivered, of course, on the day of the election is one or more Price, $1.00, or six bottles for $2.00. If your drug gist dose not have it, send to the Proprietor, 25 N.
